SCENE OF FATAL BEARSVILLE FIRE— Six occupants of this rooming house fled to safety as flames swept through the Route 212 residence at Bearsville early Sunday. Miss Edna Shultis, 72, member of a well-known Ulster County family, who operated the rooming house, perished after she went back into the house supposedly to call firemen. She had been escorted from the burning building twice by a woman tenant. Scores of persons watched firefighters in command of Chief Duncan Wilson battled the flames, which were discovered in a first floor room at about 5 a. m. State Police investigated the blaze, but the origin of the fire was not determined. A woman resident said she had heard "an explosion" before she saw the flames, it was reported. Trooper Carl Van Wagenen of the Kingston substation is shown in front of the house with Freeman Staff writer Walter S. Clark Jr. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Smoke Inhalation Claims Bearsville Woman's Life

Miss Shultis Is Victim; 3 Other Fires Erupt

BY WALTER S. CLARK JR.
Freeman Staff Writer

A 72-year-old Town of Woodstock woman and a two-year-old Poughkeepsie boy were numbered among 25 persons who lost their lives in weekend accidents in New York State since Friday at 6 p. m. The toll included 17 persons who were fatally injured in traffic accidents.

Fire Ravages Home

Miss Edna M. Shultis, operator of the Red Maple House on Route 212, Bearsville, perished in a fire that ravaged her 10-room, 2½-story frame house early Sunday morning. Ulster County Coroner Henry S. Hartley, Saugerties, gave a verdict of accidental death and said the elderly woman died of smoke inhalation.

Two-year-old Edward Mastrianni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Mastrianni, 83 Hillis Court, Poughkeepsie, accidentally drowned in a farm pool near Warwick on Sunday. He and his parents had gone to the farm for a Sunday picnic. The boy's father reportedly left the group and went to his car and when he returned he missed the child.

Efforts Fail

The body was later recovered in five feet of water about 10 feet off the shore. Artificial respiration by Mastrianni and Warwick firemen failed to revive the little boy.

Dutchess Fire Visible

A spectacular fire, which could be seen from Kingston and other points in the area, raced through a huge unused four-story frame building off River Road, Town of Rhinebeck, Saturday night.

Two other major fires erupted in the tinder-dry Hudson Valley on Saturday, as Dutchess County firefighters continued their efforts to quench a serious fire that had burned for days on Blueberry Hill Mountain in the Town of Union Vale.

Six Flee to Safety

The Bearsville fire was discovered at about 5 a. m. Sunday and forced six vacationists to flee through smoke-filled rooms to safety. The only casualty was Miss Shultis, the owner of the house, who died after she had been escorted to safety twice by a roomer, according to Kingston State Police, who investigated.

Roomers in the large house at the time of the blaze were Helene Stewart, of 545 West End Avenue, New York City, who discovered the fire in the living room on the first floor, and Shirley Shire, 628 West Elm Street, Wheaton, Ill.; Albert and Ethel Ehrlich, 62 Baker Hill Road, Great Neck, L. I., and Sava and Mary Babachoff, 2419 93rd Street, Jackson Heights.

State Police Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman, Sergeant Joseph Ellsworth and Troopers John Kohland conducted the early investigation of the fatal fire. Trooper Carl Van Wagenen later joined the investigating group.

Fire Chief Duncan Wilson of the Woodstock Fire Department was in command of firemen at the scene. Wittenberg firemen were on standby, the chief said.

Mrs. Coffey told a reporter that as soon as she was told of the fire she telephoned headquarters to report the blaze. Mrs. Coffey told a Freeman reporter that when she was awakened by Mrs. Stewart and told of the fire in the Shultis home, she telephoned firemen and then ran across the street. She learned that Miss Shultis had gone back into the house.

Forced Back by Flames

"I tried to get in through the back door but the flames forced me back," Mrs. Coffey said. "Miss Shultis apparently went back into the house to call the fire department."

It was reported that a tenant and burning through the sides of the structure.

Chief Wilson said Miss Shultis was found by firemen after the flames were quelled, slumped in a sitting position on a chair near a telephone in the kitchen of the house. Some believe the woman went back into the burning building to call firemen after she had twice been escorted to safety by Helene Stewart, a tenant.

Trooper Craig Bremer reported that investigation directed by Investigator Lisman and Sergeant Ellsworth disclosed that the Stewart woman was awakened by noises and she went downstairs and saw the flames in the front room. She aroused Miss Shultis and led her from the house twice, then she reportedly ran across the street and pounded in the windows of the Edward Coffey home.

Mrs. Coffey told a reporter that as soon as she was told of the fire she telephoned headquarters to report the blaze. Mrs. Coffey told a Freeman reporter that when she was awakened by Mrs. Stewart and told of the fire in the Shultis home, she telephoned firemen and then ran across the street. She learned that Miss Shultis had gone back into the house.

Plan Linkup With Agena Late Tonight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

Relaxed by a day of fishing, two primed astronauts were ready to ride the Gemini 10 spacecraft today on a bold dual-rendezvous and space-walk adventure that could take them farther from earth than man has yet ventured.

Navy Cmdr. John W. Young, veteran of last year's Gemini 3 flight, and Air Force Maj. Michael Collins had most of the day to prepare for their three-day journey among the stars.

Collins is to take a space walk over to the old Agena — which he has dubbed a "dead bird" because it has no battery power. This is one of two 55-minute work periods he plans outside the Gemini 10 spacecraft. The

Hanoi Plea Gets Cold Shoulder From Red China

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet

Nam made an unusual appeal today for more material and moral support from its Communist allies and other nations, describing its war situation as "extremely serious." But Red China indicated it is not ready to send its soldiers into the fight.

Even Goes to U.S.

The plea came from North Viet Nam's Fatherland Front and was addressed even to the American people in an effort to weaken the Johnson administration's political flank at home. It followed President Ho Chi Minh's decree of partial mobilization of North Vietnamese reserves Sunday.

The mobilization decree touched off speculation that North Viet Nam planned to send more regular troops into the South in reply to the intensified American air war, using the reserves to fill gaps at home.

Military action in South Viet Nam suggested infiltration might be increasing already.

Three thousand U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops swept an area just below the 17th Parallel frontier where a North Vietnamese division of 3,000 to 4,000 men had been reported. Fighting tapered off today, but the allied force was reported to have killed 167 Reds since the operation began Friday.

But the senior American officer in South Viet Nam's 2nd Corps area, the central highlands sector, doubted that Ho's mobilization announcement would mean a massive influx of North Vietnamese reinforcements.

"I think he means that the nation is just going on more of a war footing internally," said Maj. Gen. Stanley R. Larsen. "They need more people to man the anti-aircraft guns and for other defensive measures."

Red China reacted to the mo-

Revoke Fire Permits in 5 Counties

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Permits for burning brush and debris have been revoked in five southeastern New York State counties as hot, dry weather continues to parch fields and forests.

Fought 30 Blazes

The permits were revoked over the weekend while firemen and conservation officials fought about 30 brush and forest fires, mostly in drought-plagued eastern sections of the state.

On Staten Island, heavy brush fires broke out over a mile-square area near Outerbridge Crossing on the island's southwestern tip.

Twenty fire companies from Manhattan and Brooklyn were sent in Sunday to aid the island's 25 companies fight the brush fires in the undeveloped area.

Burning permits were withdrawn in Rockland, Sullivan, Orange, Ulster and Greene counties.

Biggest in Orange

The largest single fire Sunday, covering about 50 acres, was reported in Orange County's Schuney Mountain while others burned in the Catskills, Adirondacks, Berkshires and other mountain areas.

The department attributed many of the fires to campers who let fires get out of control in the tinder-dry forests.

One fire Saturday caused more than $100,000 damage to a huge summer home at Old Forge, on the edge of the Adirondack forest preserve.

The house was owned by Samuel Hill of Roddington, Conn.

City Vols Hosted 1st Convention Of County Group

This year the Kingston Volunteer Firemen will be host to the 31st annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, July 28, 29 and 30.

Kingston volunteer firemen were host to the association at its first convention when the group was organized in 1935. Again in 1946 and 1949 Kingston volunteers entertained the convention.

1955 Was Largest

In the year 1955 both the county association and the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association held their convention jointly in Kingston, when they honored former Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston Fire Department at his retirement. This convention was marked with the largest firemen's parade ever to be held in this city.

Former Chief Murphy is grand marshal of this year's parade to be held Saturday, July 30 at 4 p. m.

A brief history of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association records that for several years there had been discussion among the firemen of Kingston and Ulster County as to the wisdom of forming a county organization, along similar lines to the Hudson Valley Volunteer

Earlier Rains Keep Storage Level Safe at Cooper Lake

Cooper Lake, Kingston's main reservoir had a better storage start this year than in 1965, but this month, the driest to date, in the year compared to average rainfall, is reducing supply.

July, as of this date, has poured only .51 of an inch in the watershed area compared to 2.49 a year ago.

Earlier rains, however, have kept Cooper Lake at safe storage. It is now two feet from spillway level compared to three feet at this time last year.

Although less dry generally than 1965, this year since its start has had below average rainfall in every month except February when downpour in the watershed area was reported at 4.62 inches. The average for that month is 2.87 inches.

Cumulative rainfall for the first six months of this year, however, was 17.73 inches compared to 15.49 reported in 1965. Normal for the period is 22.44 inches.

Cooper Lake storage this year began reducing slowly on or about June 25. It started going down in 1965 on June 8.

Summer rains a year ago, however, helped bring up the supply.

Jets Pummel North, One of Biggest Yet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Fifteen waves of American bombers pounded a major oil depot in North Viet Nam Sunday and touched off 35 fires and 51 explosions in the big storage complex, the U.S. military command reported today.

U.S. Air Force jets struck the Badon fuel depot 20 miles northwest of Hanoi while other Air Force planes hit another oil storage area one mile east of Badon.

Ground Fighting Ebbs

In South Viet Nam, fighting died down in the combined U.S. Marine-South Vietnamese drive against an estimated 2,000 North Vietnamese army regulars eight miles south of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

U.S. headquarters reported two small-scale probing attacks by the North Vietnamese today. The South Vietnamese said their force had no contact with the enemy. Earlier in the operation,

City Firm Will Occupy 1st Unit Of Office Park

Ground was broken Friday for the first building of a proposed office park on Sawkill Road in the Town of Ulster. The building is the first of four or five office units to be built at Cherry Hill Office Park being developed by Charles C. (Chuck) Roach, local insurance man, on the property adjacent to the New York State Thruway about a quarter of a mile from Kingston.

The first unit is being built by Hoffstatter Bros. Inc. of DeWitt, Mills Road, Hurley, for John A. Williams of Raleigh, N. C., and Roach.

Outline First Unit

This first unit at Cherry Hill Office Park is being constructed for the public accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company, who will be the sole occupant of the new building. The firm now maintains offices at 44 Main Street, Kingston.

The Office Park is the first of its kind in the area although the idea of office parks close to cities where ample parking facilities can be provided has become very popular in numerous parts of the country.

Cherry Hill Office Park is located on a 4.7 acre tract of land on the Sawkill Road about a quarter of a mile from the New York State Thruway and the City of Kingston. The real es-

Health for All

Measles isn't just on the way out; it has practically reached the exit, according to U.S. Public Health Service experts. This is true even though only about half the susceptible children in the country so far have been vaccinated. The score right now is something like 12 million immunized and another 12 million to go, Dr. Robert J. Warren reports in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Nevertheless he predicts that measles will be practically a thing of the past by this time next year.

What's the answer? According to Dr. Warren, not all the susceptibles have to be vaccinated in order to get rid of a disease. "With smallpox," he explained, "we don't have 100 per cent immunized, yet we have no smallpox epidemic in the country."

Anti-measles of up to a third of the remaining susceptible children will be sufficient to achieve the desired result, he believes. Most of these, he noted, are in "the lower socio-economic groups," where the vaccine has been relatively little used, although it has been widely employed among families able to afford "the private sector of medical practice."

With more widespread vaccination, USPHS authorities hope that measles can be substantially wiped out by the end of 1967.

Once upon a time measles was considered a virtually harmless disease that attacked almost every child as a matter of course. It is now recognized that the ailment can lead to serious complications such as pneumonia or encephalitis.

Your tuberculosis association, concerned with TB and other respiratory diseases and with health in general, suggests that you consult your doctor about the desirability of measles vaccination for your child.

Disapprove Bridge

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass. (AP) — A suggestion to build a bridge across the six miles of water separating Martha's Vineyard and the mainland has met with vociferous disapproval by island residents.

"It's just insane," was the comment of Henry Beetle Hough, editor of the Vineyard Gazette. Other leading citizens uttered like sentiments. The proposal was made in a letter to Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe from Philip C. Wallwork, executive secretary of an automobile club — the Automobile Legal Association. Wallwork said a bridge would open the island to thousands of tourists.

A POLICY STATEMENT FROM THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK NATIONAL BANK

July 12, 1966

It is time, in our opinion, to comment on recent rapid increases in interest rates, both on deposits and on loans.

A bank exists only so long as it serves its depositors.

It owes to them the highest return possible on funds placed in its care, and it owes to them the lowest possible charge on funds borrowed. But, above all, it owes to its depositors the wise exercise of its knowledge and experience to assure safety and availability of the funds entrusted to its care. Stability and reliability are more to be preferred than mere temporary deposit growth.

There has been a fevered race to corral a relatively small amount of temporary money being shifted from bank to bank. This is not the kind of money upon which you can depend for your legitimate personal or business needs, now or in the future, nor can a bank use it to earn enough to guarantee you an advantageous long term high earning rate on your deposits.

The State of New York National Bank is now and always has been competitive. Our customers know that no other bank in this area pays a higher interest rate on certificates of deposit, and no other bank charges less interest on loans. We have deliberately refrained from sensational advertising on rates, a practice which only adds fuel to the national inflationary spiral.

It is our policy to operate a profitable bank entirely for the benefit of our customers and stockholders. We intend to conduct a stable bank able to amply care for our customers needs not only today, but tomorrow and for years to come.

Albany Houses Tells GOP How It Can Control

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges told Republican legislative candidates today that the GOP could win control of both houses of the Legislature if they emphasize the positive in their campaigns.

Among other things, he said, Republican candidates should take a positive approach in discussing the state's controversial new medical-aid program.

"When you talk about medical assistance for the needy," he said, "it is not enough to say the Democrats fought for a program which would amount to socialized medicine. Tell the people why the plan we finally enacted will take care of the truly medically needy but will not force wholesale tax increases on the state and local levels."

Brydges discussed campaign issues in a speech prepared for the opening of a two-day seminar bringing together GOP candidates for Senate and Assembly seats in next fall's election. The seminar, similar to one held last year, was arranged by Brydges and Assembly Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea Jr.

3,000 Workers Return After Wildcat Strike

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—About 3,000 workers at the Crucible Steel Co. plant headed back to work today, following a four-day wildcat strike that lacked union approval.

Some employees reported for the Sunday night shift, after a meeting with union officials, and full schedules were planned today.

The strike began Wednesday in a dispute over the company's bonus system and grievance procedures, union members said.

The walkout was not authorized by officials of Local 1277, United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, or the national union.

A company spokesman said the complaints would not be discussed until the strikers returned to their jobs.

Police Sergeant Shuts Down 'Virginia Woolf'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A police sergeant who once gave tickets to two meter maids for illegal parking has shut down the movie "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" in Nashville.

"I represent the thinking of the good people of this town," said Sgt. Fred Cobb, a soft-spoken Baptist deacon and Sunday School teacher. "I just don't feel like they would approve of this type of film for young people to see."

After sitting through the film Saturday night, Cobb returned Sunday night with a warrant for the arrest of theater manager Lawrence Martin Kerrigan, 55. Kerrigan later was released on $50 bond to appear today in city court.

Cobb confiscated one reel of the film, and then mounted the stage to tell some 700 moviegoers why the picture had been stopped. They got their money back.

Cobb's warrant said the film, which stars Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, violated a city ordinance banning profanity on the screen.

"It's a disgrace," said Cobb. "I couldn't rest easy without doing something about it. It seems to tear down everything that is decent and worthwhile in our society."

"It used God's name in vain several times and tried to belittle modern day evangelists such as Billy Graham and others."

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Folks:

For those of you who have old redwood picnic tables that have been out in the weather a long time.

I learned a pretty good way to rejuvenate them. All I did was take some vegetable oil (not the solidified shortening type), heat it in a pan and carefully carry it outside to the table.

I literally poured the oil on top of the benches. (Not on the benches.) As soon as it was cool enough, I rubbed it in with an old T-shirt.

The results were most amazing. The beautiful red color came back to the table. But remember, the table has to sit out in the sun a week or so before you can use it. The sun causes the oil to get down into the grain of the wood. Any excess oil on the surface can be wiped off with a rag.

And when bad weather sets in and the rains come along, tilt the table on its side or end, and instead of all the rain soaking into the grain of the wood, it will slide off.

Another thing I have learned is that at the end of any season, if you give your redwood table top another good coat of this hot oil before tipping it on its side, it will prevent further rot.

Dear Heloise:

Like most busy mothers, there isn't much time to record all the cute things the little ones do.

I keep a large monthly calendar tacked up inside a cabinet door, and make notes of the things they do. When the month is over, I write up that month's activities in the baby books before I discard that part of the calendar.

This way our precious memories will never be forgotten.

Dear Heloise:

I read the reader's suggestion about placing aluminum foil in the bottom of double paper bags and using this for garbage.

Well, I have another system. I save all the cardboard boxes that vegetables and fruits come in, old newspapers, magazine wrappers, plastic package covering, square egg cartons torn in two, etc., and use them in the bottom of my paper bags.

With the extra strength on the bottom of the paper bags, I can use either single or double bags and save the aluminum foil for other purposes.

Men stared vacantly into space or into the mud and leaves that oozed around their ankles.

Arms and faces were scratched. Trousers were torn. Uniforms were stained with sweat, mud and red clay.

Charlie Company of the 2nd Battalion, 503rd Infantry, 173rd Airborne Brigade, had come in from nine days and nights in the jungles near Xuan Loc.

The official report said they had killed 20 Viet Cong and suffered light losses themselves in Operation Yorktown.

The statistics were not impressive. There had been no major battles, no big finds of supplies or fortifications or documents.

But Charlie Company had known death and fear and nine days and nights of grueling jungle warfare.

The severest test came one day shortly after dawn. Thin light filtered through the jungle canopy. Charlie Company stirred through the mud to break camp. Suddenly, bursts of enemy fire seemed to slash from every direction.

Superior firepower finally forced the Viet Cong to break and retreat. Artillery shells crashed into the jungle and followed their withdrawal.

Explosions shook the earth. Sounds of fleeing wounded reached the American encampment.

Charlie Company counted 15 Viet Cong bodies, some only a few feet from American foxholes.

Four paratroopers died, all in the first onslaught of fire. The men watched wounded buddies lifted away in helicopters. The dead wrapped in ponchos followed.

Two days later a band of guerrillas struck from concealed positions.

The paratroopers plunged to the ground and began pouring fire into the trees and brush.

The Viet Cong slipped away. They left one dead American.

The jungle was so thick no helicopter could come in. Four men carried the dead man, wrapped in his poncho. Within an hour monsoon rains poured down. the ground turned slick.

"We've got to get more sleep," said Capt. John Leide of Auburn, N.Y. "One or two hours a night is about all we've been able to pull."

But the nightly strain on nerves didn't let up.

On the ninth day the company was ordered to the base camp of the battalion artillery. The sun trailed down as the troops moved out of the jungle in two long columns. Nearing the camp the lead men speeded the pace.

Rest was not far away.

Near the end of a column, a team carrying the heavy tube and steel plate for the 81mm mortar began to falter.

A sergeant bawled at them: "You keep goin', you keep goin'! You're not gonna come this far and fall out now."

Half an hour later, Charlie Company trudged past the troops guarding the base camp. Under the shade of trees in a rubber plantation, men flopped to the ground. They threw off their helmets and dropped their packs.

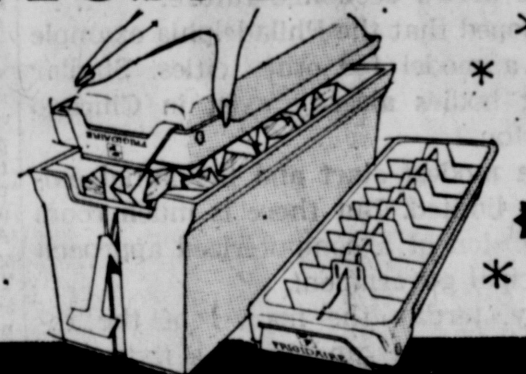

Charlie Company could relax—for a while.

COMPUTERS FOR CITIES

With the conflict in Viet Nam eating up billions and vast sums being poured into Great Society projects on the home front, word out of Washington of a $75,000 federal grant is small news indeed.

But it could turn out to be the beginning of good news for a sector of the American scene badly in need of some.

This grant, from the Department of Commerce, goes to Philadelphia to set up a pilot economic planning program utilizing computerized "systems analysis" techniques long standard operating procedure in big business and government, particularly in the Pentagon.

A board of economic analysts is to study the economy of the Philadelphia metropolitan area. Computers will be used to evaluate possible lines of industrial development with the aim of finding the best blueprint to guide city and business leaders in planning the area's economic future.

It is hoped that the Philadelphia example will be a model for other cities. Similar planning bodies already exist in Chicago and Boston.

It is a modest start and the initial emphasis is limited. But there is much room for expansion of a computerized approach to municipal government.

Only yesterday the marvel of the research laboratories and today a fixture in business and government operations where speed and efficiency in handling complex problems are essential, the computer tomorrow could well be an indispensable aid to cities in surmounting their multiplying problems.

Manufacturers have a 62-day supply of new cars, compared with only a 49-day inventory a year ago. The 1967 models will start appearing in September. There may have to be traffic cops in the showroom.

AUTO DEATH ANTIDOTES

New Jersey's attorney general, Arthur J. Sills, recently called attention to some figures that place the nation's auto death toll in a rather startling light. He also phrased an often-proposed remedy in a different way.

Sills began with this statistical punch: An American is 14 times more likely to be killed in an auto accident than by poison. He followed up with this:

"According to the National Safety Council, some 3,500 persons are killed annually in the United States by poisons. But traffic deaths are now occurring at an annual rate of some 50,000. The antidotes for poisons are used frequently and save lives. It is up to more drivers and pedestrians to use the antidotes of courtesy and caution and help save more lives in traffic."

"The antidotes of courtesy and caution" — a good phrase. Paying heed to the idea might raise the odds against being one of those 50,000.

In the year 2000, women may be able to change the color of their dresses by blowing a supersonic whistle, says a textile manufacturer. This would prove almost as big a thrill as attracting male sonic whistles.

OFFBEAT CHARACTERS

A funny thing happened on the Throckmorton's vacation this year.

They came back rested and relaxed. How about THAT!

It was simple, really. All they did was decide they wouldn't try for the mileage they had made in the past but concentrate instead on enjoying what they did see.

This deprived them, of course, of the chance to see four marvelous, mystifying caves, 176 reptile zoos, 12 rocks that look like elephant heads, 498 roadside hot dog stands, two cliffs off which Indian maidens had jumped when disappointed in love and 23 unannounced detours.

But it did permit them to sleep later each morning, take it easier during the day's travel, indulge in pauses to enjoy special scenic panoramas and historical sites and

BUSINESS THROWS A MEAN BOOMERANG

Is the American business corporation getting its come-uppance?

Years ago, before there was any "sheepskin psychosis," the business community was not daunted by the idea of requiring a college degree when it came to hiring a likely young man. It even welcomed high school drop-outs if they could show promise of curiosity and ambition on the job. Since World War II, however, many corporations have come to insist on a bachelor's degree as the price of admission to non-factory placement. And some corporations even ask for an advanced degree.

The young high school graduates, looking for something better than old-fashioned blue collar work, have responded by flooding into the colleges. But funny things have been happening on the four-year jaunt to graduation day. The boy who chose to go to college in order to get a good business opportunity learns from his professors and his new associations that corporation life is the last thing in the world that he wants. So the business recruiters, interviewing the college seniors and finding them hostile, are caught in the web which their corporations have themselves been instrumental in spinning. And the presumption is raised that the business aspirant right out of high school, with an offer of technological and even humanistic training coming as part of an on-the-job apprenticeship package.

The statistical evidence concerning the class of 1966 is not yet in, but all the business publications that have been "interviewing" the interviewed on the college campuses report that most college students still feel that "business is for the birds." Apparently 1966 will be a repeat of 1965, when a questionnaire circulated among the thousand-odd young men in the graduating class of Harvard brought forth the information that some seventy per cent planned to go into graduate school, and only sixteen per cent into jobs. (Some eight per cent chose to get their military service done with, and the rest had no plans.) Out of the total of 175 who were accepting jobs, at least forty were chosen social service work, whether for the government or for private organizations. The Wall Street Journal and Fortune magazine, conducting in-depth surveys of their own, have both said that the Harvard pattern would be repeated for most of the privately-endowed colleges of the U.S.

Some of the reluctance of the young to take business jobs in preference to going on into graduate school may be connected with the draft. But the "business is for the birds" attitude was there before the Vietnamese War began to escalate, so the yearning for advanced degrees can't be all a matter of sophisticated draft-dodging. The anti-business bias is obviously something that is common to the campus itself. And this is an irony too, for the business men of America are the ones who have endowed most of the colleges. Must they now feel they have been subsidizing a race of vipers?

For what it is worth, a recent survey of high schools in Buncombe County, North Carolina, discloses no particular antibusiness bias among high school seniors before they enter college. The Asheville (North Carolina) Sales and Marketing Executive Club asked 1,200 high school seniors some pertinent questions about competition and government control, and came up with answers that were extremely friendly toward private enterprise. Two-thirds of the seniors said that competition keeps prices fair, and some sixty per cent said the customer had a greater effect on prices than the so-called price "administrators." Almost seventy per cent were against the Federal government setting a limit on business profits. The North Carolina sample, checked against high school surveys elsewhere, was very close to the national average as revealed by a sample of 9,500 seniors in twenty-four cities.

So apparently it isn't the high school that is prejudicing students against business. The colleges themselves are doing the job. Since the corporations themselves are so internally degenerate, it all seems a trifle ungrateful, to say the least. Either the corporation has got to change its own image, or it is faced with changing the university world itself.

THE WELL CHILD

Mumps Rarely Serious Childhood Disease

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Mumps, an acute infection of the parotid salivary glands, is rarely a serious childhood disease but occasionally may cause meningitis or encephalitis (brain fever). Recovery from these complications is the rule, but sometimes they leave the child with some degree of deafness.

When a boy escapes mumps until adolescence or adulthood the disease may "go down" and cause an acute inflammation of the testicles. Inflammation of the ovaries in older girls may also occur but is much rarer.

This involvement of the sex glands can be prevented by keeping the victim in bed during the acute stage of the parotid swelling. A reader writes to say that his younger brother had this complication and to ask whether this would prevent his becoming a father later in life. In both boys and girls, there is no permanent damage to the sex glands and no interference with subsequent parenthood.

When the hard swelling of the parotid begins to subside, strict bed rest is no longer necessary or advisable, day-by-day increase in activity will help the victim to get his strength back.

Q—My 12-year-old son has always had underdeveloped genitalia. Our doctor is giving him a series of injections to activate his pituitary. What could cause this condition and what are the chances the treatment will benefit him?

A—Genital development is delayed in boys with Froehlich's syndrome, which is caused by a congenital disease of the pituitary. These boys have a characteristic type of obesity that chiefly affects the breasts, abdomen and thighs. Every effort should be made to bring your son's weight down to the lower limit of normal.

In some victims this is all that need be done but, if there is a tumor of the pituitary, the gland must be removed surgically or by deep X-ray treatments. Following this it may be necessary for the victim to take pituitary injections throughout life.

Q—My 8-year-old daughter has hyperthyroidism. Brain specialists tell us there is no hope for her. She can't even sit up or hold her head up. How long do these children live?

A—Hyperthyroidism refers to a type of abnormal brain wave seen on the electroencephalogram in children with severe mental retardation. When there are other children in the family, it is usually better for them to put the affected child in an institution. How long such a child can live is hard to say. Much depends on the care it is given but, sooner or later, pneumonia or some other infection will prove fatal.

even to relax a little before they ate their evening meal.

In fact, the Throckmortons insist they actually enjoyed the unusual arrangement. And they are reasonably sure that in time their friends will stop regarding them as some sort of oddballs.

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — As California's governorship campaign moves into the summer doldrums, Democratic Gov. Ed G. (Pat) Brown's hopes of overcoming Republican Ronald Reagan's evident dramatic lead appear to rest in quite undramatic strategy.

Says a top California Democrat: "We may just do it with a soft, sleeper campaign. We can't be dramatic. A lot of people like Pat, but they're not going to slit their throats for him."

Driven away from spectacular tactics by Brown's unspectacular nature, Democratic managers talk today of relying on such generally mundane ingredients as Reagan's past record of conservatism, his lack of any experience in government, the basic 3 to 2 Democratic edge in statewide registration.

To underscore his conservatism, the Democrats will let the voters hear Reagan's own taped voice as he spoke to John Birch Society meetings and similar gatherings in recent years. But they do not see this advice as any sort of bombshell.

More fundamental is the task of delivering the fullest possible share of the regular Democratic vote on Nov. 8th. Brown's opponent in the June 7th primary, Mayor Samuel Yorty of Los Angeles, polled an alarmingly large slice of that vote. Obviously, desperately needs it this autumn.

The governor's lieutenants agree that white backlash, given an extra flick by this spring's brief replay of the 1965 Watts Negro riots, accounted for much of Yorty's big vote. That backlash, says one aide, is "more acute now than I've ever seen it."

But as many observers have noted, Brown also suffers from widespread voter dissatisfaction on numerous other counts, including the often unruly behavior of the bearded far-out protesters at the University of California's Berkeley campus. "We're told we ought to make them cut their hair," says a Brown strategist ruefully.

Much of the anti-Brown vote which went to Yorty is believed to have come from low-income white Democrats in such sectors of Los Angeles as Bellflower, Durate and Lakewood. Whites on the perimeter of Watts were particularly upset.

Brown forces think they may get that vote next November in spite of all. They believe the springtime anti-Brown Democrats, many with conservative southern and southwestern backgrounds, may find it very hard to jump the party traces and vote for Reagan.

Brown's appeal to these voters will stress their standard economic and social welfare ties to the Democratic party. It must be managed carefully. Says a lieutenant: "We can't lay a glove on Yorty. We want his people."

The governor hopes Yorty himself will at least issue a general endorsement of all major Democratic candidates, even if he does not mention Brown specifically. It is felt he must do this to keep his party credentials for an expected try in 1968 for U. S. Sen. Thomas Kuchel's seat.

Reagan, who has talked privately with Yorty, firmly believes the mayor will not even give Brown this much comfort. The GOP nominee wants the Yorty votes for himself, since any Republican needs upwards of 500,000 Democratic votes to win in California. Polls suggest to Reagan that the mayor's votes are at this moment leaning his way.

Powerful Political Figure

Robert Kennedy's Name Appears in All Sections

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Almost anywhere you look at the present political scene the toucan-haired head of Robert F. Kennedy seems to be a part of the picture.

Glancing around: Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he is optimistic about Republican prospects in the fall election because the Democrats are divided.

He names as one area of division what he calls the rivalry between Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Kennedy.

In New York, hopefuls for the Democratic nomination for governor are wondering what Kennedy, the state's junior senator, may do in relation to the nomination.

In South Carolina, the Republican committeeman, figuring there is anti-Kennedy sentiment among his state's voters, says he thinks his party's chances of beating Ernest F. Hollings, the Democratic nominee for the Senate, are enhanced by the friendship between Hollings and Kennedy.

Kennedy Money
In Florida, there has been more talk about Kennedy than any other out-of-state political figure. Gov. Haydon Burns, who was beaten in the primary, charged that Kennedy money was aiding his opponent, Robert King High.

Kennedy's name also has come into other primaries, some past and some still ahead, such as in Tennessee and Wisconsin where Kennedy friends are candidates for governor.

There is a tendency for speculation about Kennedy's intentions to feed upon itself and grow accordingly, but fundamentally it is grounded in the expectation among many politicians that Kennedy has presidential ambitions in 1972 if not in 1968.

Few think there is any possibility of Kennedy's challenging President Johnson in 1968. Nixon is one of those who do not rule out that possibility.

To Support Johnson
Kennedy has said he will support Johnson for re-election, that there is nothing to the speculation he is building a national political machine, or to the reports of his financing some primary candidates.

There is no reason to disbelieve anything in that Kennedy statement. Yet in the pragmatics of politics, a national political base necessarily takes form if Kennedy friends win key spots around the nation.

And talk of "Kennedy money" is not negated by Kennedy's statement he is not financing any candidate. It is "Kennedy money" in the politician's view if a Kennedy friend contributes it. Whatever his intentions and ambitions, Kennedy is already a powerful figure on the American political scene.

How powerful he may be by the year's end is wrapped up in the answers yet to come of a couple of other questions.

Has he indeed—as many presume—come to a position where he can handpick the Democratic nominee for governor of New York, to be chosen in a September convention?

And if so, can he sway the voters to elect his candidate over Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller?

Quick Quiz

Q—How did the Western Hemisphere come to be called America?

A—America was named for Amerigo Vespucci, an Italian reputed to have made four voyages to the New World for Spain. The German geographer, Martin Waldseemüller, first used the name to honor Vespucci in a book published in 1507.

Q—What does the name Panama mean?

A—It comes from an old Indian word, which means "fisherman" or "plenty of fish."

Q—Where was the Charter of the United Nations signed?

A—In San Francisco in 1945.

Q—Which is the fastest-growing state in the Union?

A—Nevada. Between 1960 and 1965, its population increased 54.2 per cent to 440,000 persons.

Q—Is the tomato a fruit or a vegetable?

A—Botanically a tomato is a fruit. Commercially they are considered vegetables since they are sold as such.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

We had lunch together in Jerusalem and Gideon Hauser was revealed for what he is: a man of eloquent passion. The dark crayon eyebrows moved up on the bald head and down, depending on emphasis. The hands, full and white, swung in slow arcs, like a gull in flight. The dark eyes could stare hard, or soften with sentiment.

He is an admirable lawyer, but I think he will spend his life defending, rather than prosecuting, the Eichmann trial. It is as though the bald eagle in the black robes had never prosecuted any other case. No matter where he speaks, or where he listens, the topic always backlashes to Adolf Eichmann, the parrot-faced Nazi colonel who served as "transportation officer" to send millions of helpless Jews to their death.

At lunch, I tried to avoid the topic, because I knew that Hauser must tire of smoothing the same legalistic wrinkles over and over. Still, as we traded pleasantries, it was he who said that he had heard some kind things about my broadcast of the trial for WABC-TV. He said that I had been eminently "fair." Translated, it means that I was critical of the trial while hoping that Eichmann was disposed of as he had disposed of others.

I signed a contract to do a half-hour daily narration at lib. No one thought the hippodrome would go on more than a few days. It lasted 14 weeks. For a time, I thought Eichmann would outlive me. Dr. Hauser said he felt it would last a long time because there was so much which had to be placed on record.

He would not admit that—truly speaking—Eichmann was not on trial at all. Israel was sharpening the world's conscience. The job might be done more frequently. The generation which remembers Adolf Hitler is middle-aged, and German parents do not choose to answer the questions of their children. Mankind must not be permitted to forget that millions of terrified people had to dig their own graves before being honored by the oven.

For sadistic savagery, nothing in history matches the agony of the Jews. Many Nazis were captured and tried in Germany. But Israel wanted Martin Bormann and settled for Eichmann. The government compounded his crimes by kidnapping him in Argentina and putting him on trial in a state which did not exist when the atrocities were committed.

Further, Hauser put many witnesses on the stand who had never seen or heard of the defendant and who shouted repetitive horror stories not binding on Eichmann. The defense attorney, Dr. Servatius, made few objections. He was pleading to a world which wanted Eichmann's blood.

Today, the bright prosecutor requires 258 pages of a book called Justice in Jerusalem to explain the unexplainable. Hauser does not seem to understand, even now, that the world applauds his work and hopes that more Nazis will be found and punished. Still, every man shivers at the thought of being snatched out of his country by thugs to be hanged in a nation his foot never touched.

In prison, Dr. Hauser told me, Eichmann was a caricature of the heel-clicking Nazi. With the blood of the innocent sloshing from his shoes, he walked with dignity. With eternity darkening the final minutes of his life, Eichmann sipped a bottle of wine given to him by a jailor, and remarked on the bouquet.

A week before the end, the warden at Ramallah noticed that the prisoner had eaten a lot of bread at dinner. To accommodate man's lowest living specimen, the warden put six pieces of bread on the plate the next night. Eichmann reddened with anger.

"Why do you do this to me?" he demanded. "I don't like bread. Then why, the warden asked, had he eaten so much of it the night before? Eichmann stood to his full zero height. "Because," he said insolently, "you put the bread on the plate. We must eat what is put before us."

Dr. Hauser could not understand his prisoner then or now. The prosecutor looked for a small human trait, and found nothing. Evil, to Eichmann, was a joyous order ardently executed. He told his friends that he loved sending the Jews to their deaths, "not personally, but according to the numbers." To become a Nazi colonel, he "over-executed" Himmler's wishes.

In his book, Dr. Hauser says that Eichmann never had room for morality. The wonder is that Hauser looked for it. In a short span of years, the prosecutor has put himself in the prisoner's dock . . . to defend what?

Credit Several With Saving Boy From Well Death

PAINTED POST, N.Y. (AP) — State Police credit 2-year-old Tod Leeman's grandmother, a neighbor and a passing convoy of National Guardsmen with saving the boy from injury Sunday when he fell into a 29-foot-deep well.

Tod, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leeman of nearby Corning, was playing in the yard of his grandmother, Mrs. Harry Lee-man, 50, of Painted Post. She also was caring for three other grandchildren.

Troopers said the child plunged through a rotten board covering the well and fell into 10 feet of water. Hearing his cries, Mrs. Leeman leapt into the well, braced her legs against its sides and held Tod above water.

A neighbor, Nicholas Campos, heard her calls for help and hailed a National Guard convoy returning to Corning from weekend maneuvers.

Sgt. Robert Carlton, 27, of Corning, using a ladder he and Campos found at the Leeman Home, hung by his feet and lowered into the well by the neighbor and fellow guardsmen.
Carlton first plucked Tod from the well and then Mrs. Leeman. All escaped injury.
Mrs. Leeman's address is RD 2 and Tod's is 141 E. Corning Road.

Charge Dad, 28, In Shotgun Death Of Daughter, 3

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A 28-year-old father is charged with second-degree manslaughter in the shotgun death of his 3-year-old daughter as the family rode in a taxicab on a downtown street.

Police lodged the charge Saturday against Willie Clark of Rochester after a 12-gauge shotgun held by his son, Willie Jr., 6, discharged, killing Jane Marie Clark.

He also was charged with carrying a loaded firearm in a motor vehicle.

Police said they brought the manslaughter charge against Clark because he was "culpably negligent" in leaving the weapon unattended while he left the cab to buy shotgun shells.

They said the shotgun, wrapped in a white shirt, was in the rear seat where the children were riding. Clark's wife, Catherine, and a third child, 16-month-old Kenneth, were seated in the front with the driver.

Investigators said Clark told them he had the gun with him because he was going hunting. The incident occurred on State Street. The Clarks live at 779 Plymouth Ave. S.

Two Hospitals Reach Agreement

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of five voluntary hospitals involved in sporadic walkouts past week by non-medical workers reached agreement over the weekend with the AFL-CIO Drug and Hospital Employees Union, a union spokesman says.

Mount Sinai hospital in Manhattan and the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn "will live up to weekend agreements," the spokesman said Sunday night, adding: "as it looks now there won't be any demonstrations at the two hospitals."

Bobby Baker Is Very Happy in His New Motel

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Bobby Baker, storm center of the 1964-65 Senate investigation into charges of influence peddling in Capitol Hill, relaxed in the calm of his ocean front motel.

"I don't think I've ever been more happy mentally in my life," said the proprietor of the Carousel. "I've got more friends — real friends — than I have ever had. I have a good wife and five kids and the time to be with them. I'm grateful just to be alive."

The 38-year-old former secretary to the Senate majority, whose business holdings were reputedly worth millions, was dressed in light tan work pants and a broad checked sport shirt.

The former South Carolinian, in an interview, talked with enthusiasm of his elaborate expansion plans for the motel.

Of his forthcoming trial on federal charges of conspiracy and income tax evasion charges, he said:

"I know the truth and I sleep with it every night. I have enough confidence in any 12 jurors in this country to know that I will be given a fair shake..."

Negotiations with three hospitals were set up for today through Vincent D. McDonnell, state mediation board chairman.

The 9,000 union employees have jobs in laundries and kitchens and act as nurses' assistants and in other auxiliary capacities at the city's 18 non-profit hospitals.

Three of the 18 hospitals have negotiated new contracts providing for pay raises of 20 percent for non-medical employees, raising top pay from $80 to $96 a week.

Volunteer workers and supervisory personnel have been helping out at the affected hospitals since the rash of walkouts started last Tuesday.

At Montefiore Hospital Sunday night, about half the non-medical staff reported for work and picket lines were taken away.

But there was a brief walkout Sunday at Long Island Jewish Hospital in New Hyde Park, Queens. Operations there were termed normal although the midnight shift workers left Sunday at 6 a.m., two hours early. The day shift reported on time at 8 a.m.

At Queens General Hospital in Jamaica, there have been sporadic work stoppages, but Sunday everything was reported normal.

Nearly all non-medical workers reported Sunday at Mt. Sinai and Beth Israel Hospitals.

Dear Abby . . .

That Jerk Can't Go On Forever

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for six weeks to a wonderful man. I am 57 and he is 69. I have heard that some people are allergic to other people, and I would hate to think that it is true in my case, but every time my husband comes near me I start to jerk all over. It is strange how the muscles of my arms and legs and all over my body start to twitch and jerk.

When I am not around him I do not jerk at all. We went together for nearly three years before we were married and I didn't jerk then. I am satisfied with him as a husband and we get along fine, but all this jerking is making a nervous wreck of me. Can you tell me what is causing this?

JERKING

DEAR JERKING: If you "jerk" only when you are near your husband, his presence could be related to your jerking. Discuss it with your doctor. You can't go on jerking indefinitely.

DEAR ABBY: What is a second wife supposed to do when her mother-in-law drags out pictures of the first wife, who is now deceased, and I am told was not liked by the family when she was living? I am the second wife in this case, and after three years of being in this family (or am I?) I am getting a little sick of it.

My husband doesn't enjoy it any more than I do, but he says, "She is my mother and I am not going to fight with her." What should I do?

SECOND WIFE

DEAR SECOND: Too bad you don't have a strong, protective husband, because that would be your solution. However, you are not compelled to sit there and endure the agony. Either leave the room, or pull a paperback book out of your purse and ignore the goings-on about you. I'll admit, it's rather impolite, but it's an open and shut case of self-defense.

Dutchess Charter Commission Meets

The Dutchess County Charter Commission met last week at the County Office Building in Poughkeepsie with Professor Jack Lippman presiding and David L. Schoentag, chairman of the county board of supervisors, in attendance.

The members of the Commission expressed to Schoentag their appreciation for the extension of time which had been granted for their work. They said also that they consider the preparation of a new charter for the County of Dutchess a task which should not be rushed, and they are hopeful that their diligent efforts will produce a document creditable to the Commission and acceptable to the citizens.

The meeting was devoted to consideration of the revised proposals for powers and duties of the various branches of the government of the county. There was also some discussion of the administration code which must accompany the charter.

Samuels, Roosevelt Are Both Confident

NEW YORK (AP) — Two candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, appearing on separate radio and television interviews, have expressed confidence in their chances.

Howard J. Samuels, Canandaigua industrialist, described himself Sunday on WGBS radio as a "fighting underdog." He said New York City Council President Frank D. O'Connor is the front-runner.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., on WNBC-TV, said polls show him as the strongest candidate, and he predicted that O'Connor eventually would withdraw from the race.

Roosevelt discounted a report that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has decided to back the fourth candidate, Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson.

Roosevelt said O'Connor has only about 135 committed delegates in the September nominating convention. It takes 573 votes to win.

O'Connor who received the endorsement of the six Cayuga County delegates Saturday night, claims he has more than 600 votes lined up.

Explains Steps In Training of Dolphin Star

By RICOU BROWNING
(For Cynthia Lowry)

Editor's Note — Ricou Browning is the man in charge of the underwater photography which is a specialty of NBC's "Flipper" series. Here he describes the way he directs his dolphin star — and the stand-ins and doubles — during performances.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — To me, Flipper is a person.

He has the instincts, the responses, the behavior pattern, the emotions — notably affection — of a human being.

Flipper's head trainer, Ric O'Feldman, contends that "Anybody who can train a child can train a dolphin," and I heartily agree. It takes as long for me to teach Flipper a trick as it takes me to get the idea across to him, and he never forgets. If he learns a trick, and uses it once, he'll do it again on the proper signal six months later.

All With Hand

All the signals used to tell Flipper what to do are done with the hand, underwater and topside. For example, the signal for him to squirt water is to push water in his face. The signal to shake hands is — as with a human being — simply to hold out your hand.

He will perform as well for strangers as he will for his trainer, and responds readily to the human stars in the television series. Brian Kelly and the youngsters Luke Halpin and Tommy Norden. In fact, there's a genuine affection between Flipper and members of the cast.

In training Flipper the most important initial step is to establish communication. Once this is accomplished, it's a matter of "affection training."

Like people, dolphins possess different personalities and character traits, are intelligent in varying degrees. In many years in this field I have never encountered a dolphin I couldn't train.

The first step in training is to encourage the dolphin to eat while in captivity. This may take several days, and require patience.

Once the animal knows his source of food, the trainer gets into the tank with him, during and after the three-a-day meal, and establishes physical contact — such as touching, rubbing, petting — so that the dolphin realizes there is no danger.

Rewarded Each Time

First, I have the dolphin retrieve various objects thrown into the water. Then I have him retrieve live fish — a rather difficult effort since he naturally is tempted to eat the fish.

After each trick, Flipper is rewarded with both food and affection. He receives a daily average of 12 pounds of fish plus vitamins.

In training Flipper for work with television cameras, it was essential that he become accustomed to construction noises, light reflectors, camera sound and other potentially distracting influences. But he learned that fast.

Several Seeking Share of Trib Edition in Paris

NEW YORK (AP) — The Washington Post, New York Times and others are negotiating for a share of the New York Herald Tribune's Paris edition, it was disclosed today.

The Herald Tribune's European edition, published in Paris with a circulation of more than 54,000 daily, has not been involved in the current strike which has halted publication of the Herald Tribune along with its new partner, the merged World Journal, and a proposed Sunday World Journal Tribune.

Walter N. Thayer, president of Whitney Communications, Corp., publishers of the Herald Tribune before the merger and still publishers of the European edition, said the firm had "not made a deal with anyone."

He said, however, that the Washington Post, New York Times and others had discussed the matter with Whitney.

The paper is not for sale, Thayer added, but "whether or not we'll take in a partner, we haven't decided."

Officials of the Post and Times were quoted as saying that the status of the talks was still inconclusive.

Hope to Quicken Pace of Talks In Air Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of five struck airlines and the machinists' union meet again today in an attempt to quicken the pace of negotiations in the 10-day dispute.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, saying the movement of the talks was "extremely slow," compared the pace to that of two turtles.

"What good is it to say which is faster?" Reynolds asked after recessing the talks at 10:15 p.m. Sunday until 10:30 a.m. today.

"Both are very slow, I would not consider this to be a very productive day."

Northwest has not commented on the union's accusation.

The carriers announced Sunday night that 65,880 airline personnel would be out of work today because of the strike. The figure included striking members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and other workers who have been furloughed.

Say Schenectady Man Carried Tools, Hotel Keys

Stopped on the State Thruway near mile post 101 Town of Saugerties for a routine check by an alert state trooper at 4 a.m. today, David Merrill, 23, of 106 Park Place, Schenectady, is being held on charges of possessing burglary tools.

Trooper E. A. Zeboriss of Troop T, who made the arrest, said Merrill was traveling south when he overtook the vehicle with a California registration.

Zeboriss said further that Merrill had numerous motel and hotel keys from various cities in the United States, and also a number of credit cards and blank checks believed to have been taken in burglaries in various places.

The trooper reported Merrill also faces other charges including motor vehicle law violations. He also is wanted by Saratoga authorities for a probation violation, according to Zeboriss.

EL TORO, Calif. (AP) — Pfc. Daniel Romyer has turned down a chance to spend his first day of leave home from Vietnam in El Toro, the city from which he was sent a Christmas package of dogfood.

Space Radiation Will Be Studied By Scientists

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Two scientists hope to determine, through experiments aboard the Gemini 10 space flight today, which types of space radiation are most lethal to earthly organisms.

Organisms carried on the Gemini 9 capsule, the scientists report, survived for up to 18 hours in outer space, including about six hours in the sun's destructive radiation.

Dr. John E. Hotchin, associate director of laboratories and research in the State Health Department, and Douglas S. Hallgren, chief research associate at Dudley Observatory, also reported no signs of life in outer space.

In preliminary findings issued Saturday, they said "no live microorganisms of extraterrestrial origin were caught" in an attempt to pick up such signs of life with a "space dust collector."

Long-Shot Chance

He described the chances of finding live organisms as an extreme long-shot—provided any organisms exist—because of the postage stamp-size of the dust collector.

Hotchin said the Gemini 9 test revealed "there is small survival of very resistant microorganisms" from earth in outer space.

He said scientists wonder, however, if the organisms might be able to survive much longer—perhaps 10 days, or 50 days.

The Gemini 10 probe should provide better answers, he added, because metallic filters will be used to shield the organisms from various types of radiation.

The hardest organism carried on Gemini 9, the report said, were the T. bacteriophage and penicillium roqueforti, the latter a mold spore, like that in blue cheese.

Dies on Exposure

A third organism, the bacillus sterothermophilus, a heat-loving bacterium, unexpectedly proved a failure and died upon exposure.

The experiment's dust collectors gave results that conflict with earliest theories that the amount of dust falling into the earth's atmosphere was relatively small.

In the Gemini 9 flight, Hallgren said, small amounts of "fluffy, long chains" of particles were collected on thin, plastic film in the dust collector.

Conclusions drawn from a study of the film indicate that from 1 to 10 thousand tons of dust fall daily, he said.

Diffused over the earth's surface, this means that one particle, 1,000th of a millimeter in size, falls every second in every square foot, he added.

Meanwhile, both scientists eagerly await the results of similar experiments slated for the Gemini 10 flight, scheduled to roar aloft today.

Rules of the Road

(Third in a series dealing with rules of conduct for drivers and pedestrians when using the highways.)

Right-of-Way — (1965 Toll — 239 Fatal; 34,871 Injury Accidents)

Vehicles approaching or entering an intersection:

The driver approaching an intersection shall yield the right-of-way to a vehicle which has entered the intersection from a different highway.

When two vehicles enter an intersection from different roads at approximately the same time, the driver on the left shall yield the right-of-way to the driver on his right.

Vehicles Turning Left — The driver of a vehicle intending to turn left at an intersection, or into an alley, private road, or driveway, must yield the right-of-way to vehicles approaching from the opposite direction which are within the intersection, or so close as to be an immediate hazard.

Vehicles entering highway from private road or driveway — The driver shall yield the right-of-way to all vehicles approaching on the highway.

Authorized Emergency Vehicles — When an authorized emergency vehicle approaches with siren and lights in operation, other vehicles shall yield the right-of-way, drive to the side of the road, and stop. They may proceed when the emergency vehicle has passed.

Rotary Traffic Circle — The driver approaching or about to enter a rotary traffic circle or island shall yield the right-of-way to any vehicle already traveling on such circle, or around such island.

Pedestrian Right-of-Way — When traffic-control signals are not in place or not in operation, the driver of a vehicle shall yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian crossing the roadway within a crosswalk when the pedestrian is upon the half of the roadway upon which the vehicle is traveling, or when the pedestrian is approaching so closely from the opposite half of the roadway as to be in danger. If a pedestrian tunnel or overpass has been provided, and the pedestrian does not use it, he must yield the right-of-way to all vehicles.

No pedestrian shall leave the curb or other places of safety and walk or run into the path of a vehicle which is so close that it is impractical for the driver to yield.

Blind Persons — Drivers approaching an intersection or crosswalk must yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian crossing or attempting to cross the roadway when such person is guarded by a "seeing eye" dog, or is carrying a white or metallic cane in a raised position.

Pedestrians on Sidewalk — The driver of a vehicle emerging from an alley, driveway, or building, must stop prior to driving onto a sidewalk and must yield the right-of-way to any pedestrian.

The flicker nests as far north as Central Alaska and migrates in early fall to Southern U. S.

I am a Doctor...

My name is not important. I am one of 132 men and women practicing medicine in Ulster County. My practice is a busy one but I am rewarded by realizing that I am needed and wanted by my patients. I have always been concerned with the care of the elderly and the indigent. I will cooperate fully with the provisions of the Federal Medicare Law which provides a sensible and reasonable plan of medical care for all people over 65. I will continue to cooperate with the Ulster County Department of Public Welfare in the care and treatment of patients who are truly indigent. I will continue to care for those who have difficulty in paying their medical expenses. I will continue to make individual adjustments in each instance of hardship and I will continue to treat every emergency. I support the principle of meaningful health-care legislation if it is an assistance program to help patients meet the customary fees prevailing in their communities. However, as a doctor, I must be concerned with legislation which is detrimental to my patients. I am concerned—as are an increasing number of legislators and citizens—with this State Law, called "Medicaid," for the care of patients under 65, which does not, by law, guarantee the right of each patient to select his own physician or medical facility. I must be concerned when parents with 6 children and an annual net income of $10,200.00 and bank balance of $8,000.00 can be classed as "medically indigent" or welfare clients. Because "Medicaid" is allegedly "free", some people will request my services who really don't need them and as a result I will have less time to care for patients who are seriously ill. Both you and I will have to pay additional taxes for these unnecessary services. I am a doctor and I have always been concerned with rendering the best possible medical care to all those who need my services. My training and experience have been to heal the sick and injured. I know there is already a shortage of physicians in New York State. So do my wife and family. But these hours away from home are spent in the care of appreciative persons who need medical assistance. I am a citizen as well as a doctor. I have lawfully petitioned my legislators—many of whom have misgivings about the passage of this State law. I have appealed to both state and federal bodies of influence. I have personally appeared and been represented at the New York State Legislature in Albany—with minimal success. I resent the fact that the proponents of political give-away have made me the pawn between the ethical concepts of medical practice and you, my patients. It is for these reasons that I am reluctant to participate in the implementation of this State law for patients under 65—as it is presently written—which operates to deprive my fellow physicians and me of our constitutional rights to practice medicine in a free society.

This statement has been endorsed by a majority of the members of the County of Ulster Medical Society

Improvidence Destitution

There are thousands of widows in America whose husbands left them financially destitute. I hear from many of these women every year.

Jane Jones, age 64, is a widow. When her husband's estate was finally settled, she had $12,000. Considering the standard of living she had enjoyed for 38 years, this was a pathetic inheritance.

Socially and vocationally, she was unprepared to take a job but economic necessity forced her to accept an unhappy position as a hostess in a New York City restaurant where I eat frequently. Recently, in great seriousness, she asked me if I could invest $10,000 for her that would produce $100 a month income.

Improvidence often produces destitution. And today in the United States, there are armies of improvident husbands — like John Jones. He never knew what frugality was.

For 30 years, he was a big earner. And every year when his income increased, his high standard of living went higher and his costs enormously expanded.

He rented an expensive apartment in New York City and he owned a beautiful summer place in New England. He insisted on keeping up with the Joneses. And invariably, he had to borrow to pay his federal and state income taxes.

His social and financial life was never disciplined. And, as a result, today his widow is being cruelly punished because of his improvidence.

Now from the time he was 32 years of age, when his earnings were in five figures annually, he could and should have carried at least $100,000 of insurance. But he carried only one $10,000 policy.

For more than 30 years, his social and financial life was characterized by an "easy come, easy go" policy. Often in December his profit-sharing bonuses would be $10,000. Taxes, higher living standards and plain squandering would take it all.

Upper- and middle-class families suffer more from improvidence than do lower-class. Why is that? Because the professional and executive-type persons are more frequently in the top classes. Standards of living are higher and the whole atmosphere of spending is different. A 25-

000-a-year executive will live in a $5,000-a-year apartment and employ a maid and a cook. As a result, he can save little.

On the contrary, a $15,000-a-year earner will save $1,500 to $2,500 annually, and with half of those savings he will buy insurance contracts.

In fact, in every family in America where improvidence reigns, one insurance policy can be a social and financial blessing. Paying the yearly premiums disciplines the life of a thrifless individual. For more than a quarter of a century, I have witnessed the truth of this statement.

Perhaps at around age 30, a business or professional man will buy two insurance policies — life and endowment. He will take ten per cent of his gross annual income and with that money he will purchase a 35-year endowment policy and a life policy.

Within recent weeks, a friend of mine, who loved to spend money, passed away and thanks

Granted Sole Use Of 'Jac-O-Lyn' as Holstein Prefix

Mr. and Mrs. John Cosh, Gardiner will have the exclusive use of the prefix "Jac-O-Lyn" in naming all registered Holstein dairy animals bred in that herd.

This prefix name use has been granted by Holstein-Friesian Association of America and has become a part of official record at the organization's headquarters in Brattleboro, Vermont.

Nearly 1,500 prefixes are reserved for Registered Holstein breeders each year. Over 42,000 now on file are used to give distinctive names to home-bred cattle. Reservation and use of these prefix names became an active membership requirement in 1965.

In using an exclusive prefix name for his animals, the purebred Holstein breeder establishes a "trade mark" which is used in all published information concerning the performance of his dairy animals.

The origination of prefix names often stems from farm names, family name combinations, or unique geographical or historical features of the farm operation. Thus, the exclusive nature of each prefix is preserved in selecting a "one and only" term.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

Ap Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The long heat wave and the rush to buy coolers has built a fire under the gas industry's drive to get a sizable share of the air conditioning business.

Gas and electricity are increasingly in competition in two fields. The electric utilities have been chipping away some of gas and oil's market for heating homes and office buildings. More gas companies are now striving to break electricity's once all but iron tight monopoly on the cooling business.

High Costs is Bug

In their forays into the other's territory both have been plagued greatly by the same thing: high costs. The electric utilities are slowly bringing down the costs of electric heating. The gas industry is pushing a long-term research and development campaign to boost the efficiency and lower the costs of cooling by gas. The goal envisions gas-operated window coolers as well as central air conditioning units in which gas is now used.

About 90,000 single family homes installed central gas air conditioners in 1965, bringing the total to around three million.

But this is a small share of the market. So 72 gas utilities are pushing development of 2-to-10-ton range equipment to be competitively priced with electrically powered air conditioners. One maker of gas units expects a lower priced model late in 1967.

To Expand Operations

The industry as a whole talks of full-scale production in 1968 of radically new year-round air conditioning systems. They would range from window types to central home heating and cooling units. They would be designed around a gas-fired compressor, such as first perfected for use in sophisticated space vehicles.

The big hope of cracking the market seems to lie in the development field. Three years ago the 72 gas companies started a project called Utilities for Progress in Gas Airconditioning Research and Development.

South Knows East Has Aces

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The duck play is usually made in an effort to break up the enemy's lines of communication. Sometimes it is so important to do this that you can afford to sacrifice a trick when you duck. North's raise to two no-trump was based largely on his five-card diamond suit. South's rebid to game was based on his three ten spots, his great strength in clubs and a general allergy to missing a game.

West opened the four of spades. East played the king and South stopped to apply the code word "ARCH."

Analysis of the lead indicated fourth best of a five-card suit.

Review of the bidding marked East with both minor suit aces. Count of winners and losers showed South had lots of winners given time.

How can I make this hand? If I can bring in both dummy's diamond suit and my own club suit.

After this thought South let East's king hold the spade trick. East returned the eight of spades and South let West win that trick with the queen. A third spade lead knocked out South's ace whereupon he proceeded about his business of knocking out East's minor suit aces and making his contract.

Had South been in a hurry at trick one he would have taken the first trick with his ace of spades. This would have given him two spade tricks but would have cost him the contract. He would knock out the ace of diamonds. East would lead the eight of spades and West would duck. South could count up to eight tricks without having to lose to the ace of clubs, but he could not reach nine because West would be waiting with three spade tricks when South gave up the lead.

'Useful' Quarrels

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N. C. (AP) — Quarrels can be useful in a marriage, Methodist Bishop Earl G. Hunt Jr., of Charlotte, told a conference here. "They show a couple the deepest things about themselves," he added. "But in order to be useful, the quarrels must be analyzed after the marriage partners have cooled off, and both partners must learn what the quarrel was saying to them."

Find Stolen Car

A car of Gerald Farber of Scudder Avenue reported stolen from his premises was found later down a 25-foot embankment of Route 28-A near the Butler Furniture Store. The car was reported missing Saturday morning. The car was located by Lewis W. Hurley who notified the sheriff's office.

Smoke Inhalation

In the house was evidently not familiar with using the telephone and the call for firemen was delayed.

The six roomers in the Shults home, who reportedly lost their belongings in the fire, returned to their homes later in the day, it was reported.

Major Dutchess Fire

Saturday night a major fire destroyed the empty four-story wooden building on the former Vincent Astor estate off River Road, Town of Rhinebeck. The structure, now owned by the Beekman Acres Realty Co., was formerly used as a chicken house.

Fire units from Hillside and Rhinecliff were dispatched through mutual aid to assist Rhinebeck firemen at the scene. The fire occurred after 8 p. m.

Dutchess County Deputy Sheriffs Homer Anson and Donald Williams, who went to the fire area, reported the building was a total loss. The origin of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Fire at Scout Camp

Flames broke out on the Sanita Hills Boy Scout Camp property near Little Whaley Lake in the Town of Pawling on Saturday. About two acres were involved. District Forest Ranger Humphrey Hedgecock described the fire as a "bad one." He said the fire started Friday night and had a good start before it was reported Saturday morning.

Ground fires at the scene of those blazes gave firemen extra work. Hedgecock said that while the flames at the Boy Scout Camp and at Fainestock Park were quieted, efforts were made to "draw in" the fire that burned underground.

Reports from Dutchess County this morning were that the woods fire that burned since Wednesday on Blueberry Hill in Pawling, had been extinguished, although some firemen remained in the area to check any rekindle.

Funeral services for Miss Shults will be held from the Lasher Funeral Home, Inc., Woodstock, Wednesday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Mr. James Cook, pastor of Overlook Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be in the Woodstock Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday from 7-9 p. m.

Born in Bearsville 7 years ago, she was the daughter of Frank and Ida Johnson Shults. She was the former postmaster in Bearsville, located in the old Bearsville Store which was operated by her family. She was a member of the Overlook Methodist Church of Woodstock, and the Clinton Chapter No. 445 O.E.S. of Kingston. Surviving are five cousins.

The weekend toll of 25 lives in the state included 17 traffic mishaps, two in fires, four drownings, one died in a farm accident and a small boy suffered a brain hemorrhage in a fall, according to the Associated Press roundup.

The highway toll included a fatal four-death crash Saturday near Haverstraw taking the lives of Hiram Andujar, 29, his brother Wilfredo, 25, Edwin Matos, 23, and Samuel Rivera, 23, all of Haverstraw.

The automobile in which they were riding struck a tree beside Route 202, four miles west of Haverstraw in Rockland County.

Sunday night, four men in one car were killed when another car crossed the center mall of the thruway and struck their car near Tarrytown. The four were Francisco Mercado, 60, of Brooklyn; Rafael Cruz, 33, of Newark, N.J.; and Jose Perez and Louis Rivera, both of the Bronx.

Take 9th to

Davy, one of the eight student nurses massacred in their residence early Thursday.

Ward said he anticipates filing multiple murder charges against Speck and that he probably will present the case to the grand jury this week.

Speck has been under sedation in the city jail hospital and reported in good condition. Ward said Speck had not been questioned and had made no statements. He was under heavy guard.

The nationwide hunt for Speck ended in a skid row flophouse when a tenant saw Speck staggering down a hallway, covered with blood. The tenant called the desk clerk and he summoned police.

Police placed a tourniquet on the profusely bleeding left arm and took the man, reeking from alcohol and unconscious, to Cook County Hospital.

But a young surgeon who had just read a newspaper recognized Speck and summoned police. This came less than 15 hours after a murder warrant had been issued for Speck.

Detectives theorized that Speck drank himself into a stupor and tried to commit suicide after he saw a drinking buddy in the back seat of a police car.

Detective John Mitchell said Speck may have spotted Robert Gerald in the back of a squad car as police toured skid row in a systematic search for Speck Friday night and Saturday.

Mitchell said Speck may have reasoned "he had run out of time," and attempted to kill himself.

Authorities said he used either a broken bottle or knife to slash his arm and wrist. He lost 1½ pints of blood.

Police picked Gerald up Friday afternoon after witnesses reported seeing Gerald with Speck in a rooming house Thursday afternoon.

Police said Gerald told them he and Speck discussed the nurses' massacre while drinking in a tavern the morning the bodies were found.

Gerald said Speck told him: "It must have been a sex maniac who did that crime."

The story unfolded all day Sunday as details of police activity were made public.

The young surgeon, Dr. Leroy Smith, 26, worked on the bloodied man who was registered in the Starr Hotel as B. Brian — in the emergency room as just another slashing case until he saw something under the coat of blood.

"I moistened my finger tips and rubbed," Dr. Smith said. "I saw a B. I rubbed some more and saw L-O-R-N."

It was the first word of a tattoo reading "born to raise hell," Dr. Smith recalled the newspaper article and quickly washed the blood off the arm.

The tattoo was one of the identifying marks flashed across the continent 15 hours previously.

"What's your name?" Dr. Smith asked the man.

"Richard, Richard Speck," he answered weakly.

"This is the fellow police are looking for," Dr. Smith told a nurse. "Get hold of the police right now."

At one point, Dr. Smith said, Speck looked up and asked: "Will you get the $10,000?"

"I just walked away," the young surgeon said.

The reference was to the $10,000 reward offered by the South Chicago Community Hospital where the student nurses trained.

When Speck was coming out of the anesthesia, the doctor quoted him as saying: "I'm scared. I'm scared."

As details of the police investigation were revealed Sunday it showed that Speck might be tied to the mass murder partly by his desire to reach New Orleans.

Earlier Rains

June contributed 2.68 inches compared to 2.18 this year, all of July poured 2.58 inches, and August did its replenishing best with 5.27 inches.

Reservoir storage, although depleting at this date in the summer, says Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, is not yet at level to cause concern and will not be for the next four to six weeks, if summer rainfall remains below average.

Average July rainfall for the watershed is some four inches. It tends to be far below that this month unless remaining days bring exceptional rains.

Lowest July rainfall in the department's records was 1.29 inches in the drought year of 1957. In that year by fall Cooper Lake had gone down some 18 feet, and the city prepared for emergency action, but by winter it was not needed.

Mexican Firm Gets $764,000 Bank Credit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Mexican firm, formed by Corning Glass Works in Corning, N.Y., and Mexican financial interests, is the recipient of a $764,000 credit from the U.S. Export-Import bank.

The credit, announced Sunday, will help Productos Corning finance purchase of equipment for a $3.3 million glass factory.

The plant's products will be sold to Mexican television tube manufacturers, who supply about 15 television set manufacturers.

Plan Linkup

first is to be a simple "stand up" maneuver Tuesday during which he'll open his hatch, poke the upper half of his body into space and conduct scientific and photographic experiments.

"Almost everything we do will be directly applicable to the Apollo man-to-the-moon program," commented command pilot Young. "Anything we learn about space flight also will be applied to planning for planetary missions."

"Do-It-Yourself" Try
At the outset of their flight, Young and Collins will try something new — do-it-yourself navigation. Using the spacecraft inertial guidance system, a sextant to make star and horizon readings and a spacecraft computer, they'll plot the maneuvers needed to pursue Agena 10 over a 103,000-mile course, catching it after a five-hour chase during their fourth orbit 185 miles above the earth.

On earlier Gemini rendezvous flights the figuring was done mainly by computers on the ground, which will be a backup this time.

"If you're going to go to the moon," Young explained, "you have to have this ability in the event that there's no contact with the ground. Certainly, if you're going to have on-board navigation capability."

An hour after catching the Agena 10 — shortly before midnight — Young is to insert the nose of Gemini 10 into a docking collar on one end of the 26-foot Agena, clamping the two vehicles firmly together.

Two repeat dockings are slated the next day — one by each astronaut.

Achieved Only Once

Docking has been scheduled on three Gemini flights, but has been achieved only once. The Gemini 8 astronauts, Neil Armstrong and Air Force Maj. David R. Scott, joined with their Agena in March, but the experience was short-lived. A space-craft jet thruster failed and spun the vehicle wildly out of control, forcing an emergency separation and landing.

After the first docking, Young and Collins, both 35, plan another space first — igniting the powerful 16,000-pound-thrust Agena 10 engine while linked with it to send both vehicles soaring together into an elliptical orbit ranging from 185 to 468 miles.

The altitude record is 307.5 miles, held by the Soviet Union's Voskhod 2 cosmonauts Pavel Belyayev and Alexei Leonov. The U.S. record is 216 miles by the Gemini 5 astronauts, Air Force Col. L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr.

"We're not trying to go to a certain altitude to set a record," Collins emphasized. "That's not our purpose. It's to set us up to go after the 8 Agena."

Agena 8 is orbiting the earth at between 244 and 252 miles. In their different orbits, and with Young and Collins shifting their path from time to time, the two vehicles gradually will come together about 48 hours into the mission. They will disconnect from the Agena 10 and leave it in space after using it to achieve the high orbit.

At the higher altitude, experts figure the astronauts will be exposed to 10 times more radiation than any other American astronaut — but still only 1-20th the amount considered dangerous.

Collins' stand-up extra-vehicular activity — EVA — is to start about 23 hours into the flight and is to last 35 minutes while he conducts two experiments. One is to obtain ultraviolet photographs of four star fields. The other is to take pictures of four color patches in a test at determining the proper processing that must be made to obtain true photographic colors of the moon and other space objects.

After a night's sleep, they'll begin pursuing the Agena 8 in earnest.

"See Difficult Task"
"It will be difficult," said Collins, "because the 8 Agena is a dead bird with no battery life, guiding lights or radar transponder."

Young said the rendezvous with this passive target will set guidelines for future missions, such as space rescue, where a space ship might have to go after a disabled manned or unmanned satellite.

Once the astronauts have caught Agena 8, Collins is to emerge on a 50-foot tether and propel himself to the satellite, maneuvering with a gas-powered hand-held space gun.

Car-Bicycle Crash
A 13-year-old Poughkeepsie boy was injured Saturday when his bicycle was involved in a mishap with a car on Hooker Avenue in that city. Police said Michael Haines, 96 Fairview Avenue, was treated at Vassar Hospital for head injuries. Authorities reported the car was driven by George Pressler of Gardiner.

Today in WashingtonRepair Bomb Damage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance has suggested that North Vietnam is mobilizing partially to help repair bomb damage to its oil storage facilities.

Vance, appearing Sunday on the CBS television-radio program "Face the Nation," said about 200,000 workers now are working full time and another 100,000 to 150,000 part time on the project.

13,000 Convictions

WASHINGTON (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, reported today that 96.7 per cent of the persons it brought to trial in the fiscal year ended July 1 were convicted.

In a report to Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, Hoover said fines, savings and recoveries in FBI cases during the period reached a record $253 million, representing a return of $150 for every $1 appropriated for FBI operations. Convictions exceeded 13,000, he said.

Hamilton's Deferment
WASHINGTON (AP)—Four pickets have protested in front of the White House the Selective Service deferment of actor George Hamilton, a frequent escort of President and Mrs. Johnson's elder daughter, Lynnda.

The pickets, two young men and two women, marched Sunday for a half-hour, carrying signs saying "Draft George Hamilton now" and "George is no ham, he's chicken."

Economic Growth
The Department of Commerce reports the economy rose to a record seasonally adjusted annual level of $732 billion during the last three months. But, it says, the rate of economic growth slowed significantly during the April-June period.

The Gross National Product increased by $10.8 billion, the smallest quarterly rise since late 1964.

City Vols Hosted

Firemen's Association.
Leading volunteer firemen of the city and county discussed the matter, and finally it was decided to hold a meeting in Kingston of interested volunteers to discuss the proposed action, and if favorably accepted, to organize a county organization.

This meeting was held on Monday evening, April 15, 1935, at the Dugout on East Chestnut Street, which that year was the home of Joyce-Schirck Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Some 80 volunteer firemen from the city and county were present at the meeting, and the United County Volunteer Firemen's Association was organized with practically every fire department and company in the city and county as members.

Moran First President
Edward F. Moran of Union Hose Co. of Kingston, was chosen as the first president of the association. The other officers elected were William B. Martin of Excelsior Hose Co. of Kingston, as first vice president; Allen D. Potter of Pioneer Hose Company of Ellenville, second vice president; L. E. Dunne of Waukeg Hose Company of Kingston, secretary, and George Hammesfahr of Wallkill, treasurer.

The directors were James A. Simpson of the M. F. Whitney Hose Company of Poughkeepsie; Fire Chief C. G. A. Fisher of Scoresby Hose Company of Ellenville; L. E. Westbrook of the Napanook Fire Department; John T. Groves of the Port Ewen Fire Department; and Joseph Disch Sr. of Weiner Hose Company of Kingston.

Present Officers
The present officers of the association are: Rodney DuBois of Kingston, president; Robert Kuhart of Ellenville, first vice president; Alvin Beatty of New Paltz, second vice president; Fred C. Harder of Kingston, secretary and Henry DuBois of New Paltz, treasurer.

The board of directors serving for the past year include: Moran, Kingston; Hammesfahr, Ellenville; Edward Maines, Port Ewen; Ernest Ahlberg, New Paltz; John Ludlow, Napanook; Oscar Lambert, Esopus; Lee Keator, New Paltz and Percy Bush, Town of Ulster.

The association now numbers 73 volunteer fire companies in Ulster County among its membership.

Point to Growth
Since its organization 31 years ago the association has grown in strength, both financially and in numbers. The organization has been instrumental among other things in having the mutual fire aid plan placed in operation, established radio communication throughout the county, endorsed the office of fire coordinator and the system of inter-company mutual aid.

Monthly meetings are held in various sections of the city and county when speakers address the firemen on matters of interest, and these meetings are always largely attended.

Incidentally the first convention of the new organization was held in Kingston, and this year's convention marks the 31st in the series held since the formation of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Storm Kills 60
HONG KONG (AP)—Tropical storm Lola killed at least 60 persons in Canton, South China's largest city, last week and injured many others, visitors from Communist China reported today.

Guardsmen

men moved in with weapons at the ready Friday night.

Gov. Otto Kerner, after a surprise tour of the West Side area Sunday said: "We are hopeful that law and order have been restored."

There have been scattered incidents nightly. In one, early today, a guardsman reported that a Negro had fired at him and fled. Police said the shot, which missed, came from an alley that was the scene of the shooting of a police officer, the killing of a Negro and the wounding of another at the riot's height.

Taverns and pool halls in the area, closed by the disturbance, were allowed to reopen Sunday.

More Swimming Pools

The city park superintendent, responding to residents' complaints that there weren't enough swimming pools for summer recreation, announced that 10 will be installed in parks and playgrounds. The first went in Sunday.

They are the semiprivate above-ground type, 24 feet wide and 4 feet deep, capable of holding 30 to 40 kids, and each will have a lifeguard.

Except for scattered shots, window smashings and burnings, life in the area seemed virtually normal over the weekend. Guardsmen patrolled only in token force during the day.

Guard dispersers were sent into the streets. Sunday night, the number was given as 1,200 to 1,500.

Residents, some of whom showed fear when the soldiers rolled in carrying bayoneted rifles, all but ignored them after a time. Some adults expressed resentment at the show of force.

Others said they were glad to have calm established. Many of the youngsters oohed and aahed at the guns and tried to make friends with the guardsmen.

Welcomes Peace
Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, who has been leading a slum clearance drive here, praised Guard discipline and welcomed the peace.

But he added in a statement: "It must be remembered that genuine peace is not the absence of tension but the presence of justice. Chicago's West Side remains an island of despair in one of the most affluent cities of this nation."

King blamed the trouble on elected officials whose myopic social vision has been blurred by political expediency.

There was no immediate comment from officials. But last week Mayor Richard J. Daley said King's aides must share a measure of blame as they talked of violence to youngsters.

Hanoi Plea Gets
bilization decree by offering again "to take all necessary actions" in support of the North Vietnamese but implied it thought they could win with their own forces. An editorial in the official Peking People's Daily said the decree showed "the unshakable confidence of the Vietnamese people in their resolve to fight and win."

The editorial dangled the threat of Chinese intervention, declaring "we will take action any time we consider it necessary." But it emphasized that China regarded its role now as a supporting one — "The vast expanse of our country is the rear area of the Vietnamese people."

Dutchess GOP Chairman
Republican committees in Dutchess County and the City of Poughkeepsie have elected chairmen for the coming year.

Jay P. Rolison Jr., Poughkeepsie attorney, has been re-elected chairman of the County GOP committee, and Herbert J. Haight was unanimously elected to his first full term as chairman of the Poughkeepsie Republican Committee.

There was no opposition to either candidate.

Chi Police Dogging Speck Even Before Knowing Name

CHICAGO (AP) — Rarely has a police investigation been conducted more expertly than the one that led to the arrest of Richard Speck.

Detectives were dogging their prime suspect even as the bodies of the eight murdered student nurses were being removed from the Chicago townhouse — even, indeed, before they knew the man's name.

Police Were Cozy
But the police were cozy. They didn't let on.

Not until they had Speck's fingerprints, background, name, description and an eyewitness identification of a photograph — enough to justify an arrest warrant — did they broadcast the news.

When they did the whole nation was keyed to receive it, and the very publicity led to his recognition by the hospital doctor treating Speck's slash wounds. The trackdown began when Corazon Amurao, the only survivor of the massacre, gasped her first hysterical description of the killer to a patrolman at dawn Thursday, moments after he fled the blood-splattered house.

Teams of detectives fanned out through the South Side neighborhood.

Filling Station, Hall
One stop was a filling station. A stranger fitting the description had been there, the attendant said. He had left two suitcases there Tuesday morning while he went to look for a room. He came back the next morning and picked them up.

Next stop was the Maritime Union hall across the street from the nurses' townhouse. Yes, such a man had been there Monday morning looking for a job on a New Orleans-bound ship. The name on the application was Richard Speck, and a small, coin-machine photograph was attached. He also left the phone number of a sister, where he could be reached in case a job should turn up.

Hadn't Miss Amurao said the killer had demanded money so he could get to New Orleans? Yes, she had.

A detective dialed the number. Tell your brother, he instructed, to contact the union hall.

Call Is Returned
At 3:10 p.m. Speck returned the call. Posing as a union official a detective told him to come to the hall immediately, there was a job waiting for him. Speck said he would be there.

Meanwhile, investigators had Speck's activities well catalogued. Monday night he had stayed at a rooming house nearby. All the rooms were occupied, so he slept on a couch. Tuesday night he had stayed at another rooming house, adjoining a tavern. During the three days before the murders he had hung around various taverns and loafed in the quiet park behind the townhouse where the nurses stayed.

Speck didn't return to the union hall. Instead he gathered his belongings from the rooming house, caught a cab and headed for the other side of town.

Detectives located the cab driver. They also located an old drinking buddy of Speck's, William Kirkland.

Thursday afternoon, Kirkland said, he had run into Speck in one of their old haunts and Speck had sold him a 12-inch hunting knife for a dollar. Police took the knife to the crime lab.

Busy With Other Data
Lab technicians were already busy with other evidence.

They had dusted the townhouse for fingerprints and by working round the clock quickly managed to isolate 32 prints that didn't match those of the girls who lived there.

FBI and police files in other states also had provided a dossier of information. Speck had been in and out of jail in Texas, was wanted for questioning about a slaying in Monmouth, Ill. He was a drifter, never kept a job long, had few roots.

Fingerprints Matched
An FBI courier rushed from Washington with Speck's fingerprints. They matched the ones found at the townhouse.

Miss Amurao, hysterical after her long night of terror, roused from heavy sedation Friday morning. Detectives visited her in her hospital room.

They showed her about 200 photos from police files. She shook her head at each one. Then, casually, a detective handed her three more, including the one of Speck.

The 23-year-old Filipino exchange student looked hard at one of the three. She tapped the center one. "That's the man," she said. Detectives centered their search in the neighborhood where the cabbie had dropped Speck. Showing photographs of Speck to barkeepers and prostitutes, they tracked him tavern by tavern to a skid row hotel near Chicago's Loop.

Hotel Staked Out
The hotel clerk told the investigators Speck had checked out about a half hour ago. Detectives staked out the hotel.

The next afternoon, Saturday, Cmdr. Francis Flanagan, chief of the homicide division, announced that a murder warrant had been issued naming Speck, and broadcast his description to the nation.

Until that moment speculation in Chicago was that the police had no suspect and not much chance of getting one because the clues, Flanagan had insisted, were pitifully few.

But now the police were worried: Speck's trail had gone cold.

Unknown to the detectives manning the stakeout, Speck had gone to another hotel — about two miles away — where he had a room under the name B. Brian. His police file showed a string of aliases, but that was a new one.

It was as B. Brian, a skid row drifter, that Speck was admitted to the county hospital at 12:30 a.m. Sunday, his arm spurting blood from a slash wound police said he inflicted himself.

The doctor was astonished when he saw Speck's widely publicized tattoos and looked into the face he had just seen in the newspaper. "Call the police," he said to his nurse.

High School Cluster Favored by Donovan

NEW YORK (AP) — School Supt. Dr. Bernard E. Donovan has urged "clusters" of high schools to offer both academic and vocational instruction instead of a controversial plan to combine instruction at all of the city's high schools.

In his report Sunday, Donovan said:

"The more practical approach is to conceive of a cluster of high schools, usually four, that could among them contain the high-skill, high-demand trades for this city with its diversified needs."

Under the cluster setup, he said, students would, after two years of high school, either remain in the school in which they started or transfer to another school in the cluster that offered the specialized courses of their choice.

Women Work Own Solution To The Pin - Curl Predicament

Dear Mrs. Post: Please let's get this problem of the modern woman in her pin curls settled. Someone is always moaning about women who appear in public with their hair rolled up and I am tired of reading letters in the papers from mailmen and gas men and water men and deliverymen who complain about women's hair in curlers at home. We certainly don't like anyone to see us this way but what is the answer? What do working wives do? Not everyone can afford the beauty parlor once a week. — Janice Barngrover.

Dear Mrs. Barngrover: Deliberately men have no business criticizing women for putting their hair up in their own homes. That's where it ought to be done. But a woman who must appear outside her home, even a very busy one, can take the time to cover up the curlers with a scarf or a crazy hat.

I realize that a working wife has no alternative but to set her hair in the evening. Certainly her husband would prefer to see her hair in curlers at home to having her appear with him in public in that condition.

Each woman has to work out her own hair-setting time. All that I ask is that she choose the hour when she is most likely to have privacy, and that she not inflict the sight on others, including her husband, and more than is absolutely necessary.

Party Dates Okay At Thirteen
Dear Mrs. Post: I would like your opinion on a 13-year-old girl dating. I would like to, if I am ever asked, but my mother refuses. — Hilary.

Dear Hilary: Your mother is right to refuse to let you go out on dates alone with a boy at your age. However, I hope she will allow you to go to an occasional school party or early movie with a group of boys and girls.

Cousins And More Cousins
Dear Mrs. Post: Am I right that two sisters' children are first cousins, two sisters' grandchildren are second cousins, one sister's child to the other sister's grandchild is a cousin once removed? — Marie.

Dear Marie: You're right. What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that we receive each week, we'll send a free copy of Emily Post's "Etiquette," revised by Elizabeth L. Post. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column every Friday. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address! (A Bell-McClure Syndicate Feature)

Noel Coward Comedy Opens Tuesday Night At Woodstock Playhouse; Jazz Concert

Noel Coward's comedy classic, Present Laughter, will open at the Woodstock Playhouse on Tuesday, July 19th and run through Sunday, July 24th.

In a highly amusing way, Present Laughter tells the story of Garry Essendine, a popular and pampered actor who is making last minute preparations for an extended tour. His apartment is invaded by Daphne, a beautiful but stage-struck girl. When his wife, his partners, and numerous admirers arrive, Garry is hard pressed to escape an embarrassing and easily misunderstood situation. The scenes which follow in Present Laughter make it quite apparent that Noel Coward is justly called the master of wit.

Playing the part of Garry Essendine, the popular and pampered actor, will be Robert Foley, a newcomer to Woodstock Audiences. Mr. Foley's flair for comedy makes this a highly amusing evening. Also in the cast are Terry Forman as Daphne and Judith Doty as Garry's wife.

Present Laughter will be directed by Harold Baldrige and the setting will be done by Tim Finneran.

Reservations for this and all Playhouse productions can be made by calling the Box Office.

Concert Tonight
A new sound in Jazz is scheduled for tonight at 8:40 at the Woodstock Playhouse as a special feature.

The New Jazz group consists of Burton Greene, a pianist-composer and one of the original members of the Jazz Composers Guild. Marion Brown on the alto sax, and Patty Waters as the vocalist. New Jazz deals with the current free improvisational movement in American music.

Happy and Artie Traum, one of the nation's best folksing teams, will perform at the Woodstock Playhouse Monday, July 25th at 8:40 p. m.

Proficient in all types of music including folk, country, rhythm and blues, and folk rock, Happy and Artie are gaining recognition throughout the country for their fine work. At Carnegie Hall last September, they played to capacity audiences at the Sing-In for Peace concert and since then have been performing in coffee houses and night clubs as well as in concerts.

Comedy on July 26

Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman's Once In A Lifetime, a comic barb at the craziness of Hollywood, will open at the Woodstock Playhouse on Tuesday, July 26, and run through Sunday, July 31.

One In A Lifetime is a play about the events leading up to and occurring in the Moss Hart book Act One. The characters, George, May, and Jerry, perpetually out of work actors in New York, decide to go to Hollywood and seek their fortunes. George, portrayed by Cliff Lipson; May, portrayed by Judith Doty, and Jerry, played by Kevin O'Connor, while on the Twentieth Century Limited, meet Helen Hobart (Hedda Hopper's counterpart) and are persuaded to start a school of voice training in Hollywood. The three descend upon the offices and backstage lots of the land of opportunity trying desperately to find work. Their creation of Colossal Pictures and Super Jewel Movies results in a bedlam of hilarity that will bring

Hinton's Hitting Aids Tribe

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Spring was a forgettable experience for Chuck Hinton this year, but he has given American League pitchers small reason to welcome summer.

The Cleveland center fielder climaxed a month-long hitting spree Sunday with a spectacular performance in the Indians' twice-over scalping of Detroit, 7-3, 15-2.

Before the shaken Tigers had managed to creep into the clubhouse, Hinton had three home runs, six runs batted in, a triple, two singles and five runs scored.

Until the middle of June, Hinton, playing irregularly, had been hitting poorly. His batting average was a meager .220 and, although he had hit between 11 and 18 homers the last four years, he had yet to hit one out of the park this season.

But on June 16, Hinton hit a pinch home run in the ninth inning against New York and he's been hardly recognizable since.

A .333 Clip

Playing full time the past month, he's been hitting at a .333 clip with five homers and 14 RBI. He homered in the third inning of the opener Sunday, then came back with a three-run blast in the third inning of the nightcap, and rounded out the afternoon's festivities with another in the seventh.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Yankees, who have climbed to eighth place, took a pair from Minnesota, 4-2 and 9-6, Chicago and Baltimore split, the White Sox winning 5-1, then losing 3-2. California shut out Washington 5-0, then was edged 3-1, and Kansas City and Boston split, both games going 10 innings and both ending 3-2.

With their two victories Sunday the Indians ended a fast during which they had lost five in a row and 11 of their last 12 games. In those 12 contests, Cleveland scored only 31 runs. Sunday they came up with 22.

Near First Division

Joe Pepitone, Horace Clarke and Lou Clinton homered for the first Yankee win and Clete Boyer drove in four runs in the nightcap. The Yanks, recently in danger of being in last place, now are only 2 1/2 games from the first division.

Gary Peters of the White Sox limited first-place Baltimore to five hits in the opener of their twinbill, but Brooks Robinson came back to lead the Orioles to victory in the second game. Brooks scored twice and drove in a run.

The Angels' rookie pitcher, Clyde Wright, shut out Washington on seven hits in their opener while Bob Rodgers drove in three runs. In the nightcap, Fred Valentine drove in one run and scored another while Jim Hannan kept the Angels at bay with six hits.

Mike Hershberger scored the winning run on a passed ball in the first game for Kansas City after he had tripled with two outs. In the second game, the hero role went to Joe Foy, who hit an inside-the-park homer to lead off the 10th.

Native Diver Captures Stake

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

Given time, good health and permitted to remain in California, Native Diver could well go down in thoroughbred racing history as one of the richest horses and holder of an unusual record.

When Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Shapiro's 7-year-old gelding won Saturday's $162,100 Hollywood Gold Cup for the second straight year at Hollywood Park, it marked the 31st time the Diver has stepped into the winner's circle in 69 starts. And 28 of his victories have been in stakes competition.

However, the most unusual thing about Native Diver's record is that all of his stakes triumphs have been over California tracks. He ventured out of his home territory a couple of seasons ago to take on the best in the Chicago area but was found wanting.

"He never ran better," said jockey Jerry Lambert after posting a 4 1/2-length triumph over Greentree Stable's O'Hara with Travel Orb, twice conqueror of Native Diver this year, in third place.

In 10 previous starts this year, Native Diver had won only three and there were many who thought he was nearing the end. But in the Gold Cup he picked up 126 pounds, gave eight to 22 pounds to his rivals, and ripped off the 1 1/4 miles in two minutes flat while running in front all the way.

Victory in the Gold Cup, worth $102,100, moved Native Diver up four notches to 22nd on the money-winning ladder with a bank account of $768,400.

His popular triumph — he paid $4.80 and $2 — and Bold Bidder's narrow decision over Argentine-bred Paoluccio and favored Pluck in the roughly ridden $114,450 Monmouth Handicap at Monmouth Park saved the weekend for the name horses.

Bold Bidder, a son of Bold Ruler, was the third choice at $14.80 for $2 chiefly because his burden of 122 pounds compared to 107 by Paoluccio and 114 by Pluck. The time for the 1 1/4 miles was 2:03 3/5.

Lead NL Race
Cledenon Paces Bucs To Sweep Over Giants

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four professional teams in three sports once pursued Donn Clendenon. Now a number of teams would like to pursue him right out of the National League.

Cledenon continued his torrid pace Sunday as the Pittsburgh Pirates swept a doubleheader from San Francisco 7-4 and 7-1 and replaced the Giants in first place in the National League pennant race.

The double victory vaulted the Pirates one game ahead of the Giants, who had been out of the top spot for only four of the previous 71 days. The teams conclude their three-game series tonight.

Cledenon was a baseball, basketball and football star in his high school and college days. He was all-state in Georgia in all three sports in his senior year and went on to win a total of 12 letters at Morehouse College.

Picked Pirates
Upon graduation he was sought by the Harlem Globetrotters, the New York Knicks, the Cleveland Browns and the Pirates. He selected the Pirates, and how he's headed for a circle that, at least for the Pirates, isn't so select anymore.

His four hits in the doubleheader raised his average to .294, putting him within reach of the .300 level that four teammates already have attained.

Cledenon, however, was hitting only .259 on June 25. But since then, in a stretch during which the Pirates have won 17 of 23 games, the 30-year-old first baseman has collected 32 hits in 83 at-bats for a .386 mark.

The hits are the most any Pirate has had in that period while his .386 average is second only to Manny Mota's .439. Also in that time Clendenon has lifted his homer total from seven to 15 and his runs batted in total from 28 to 48.

Elsewhere in the NL, Philadelphia blanked Los Angeles 3-0 before bowing 3-1, New York swept Houston 4-2 and 7-5, Atlanta downed Cincinnati 9-6 and Chicago whipped St. Louis 7-2 and losing 4-3 in 11 innings.

Cledenon beat out a punt in the sixth inning of the opener and scored on Bill Mazeroski's double, then powered a three-run outburst in the eighth with a triple. Willie McCovey's two-run homer for San Franisco.

Cledenon hit a two-run homer in the nightcap that climaxed

Ryan Sets Mile Mark In 3:51.3

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Kansas teen-ager Jim Ryan handed the Iron Curtain countries an unexpected return blow to their slap at his nation when his flying feet returned the world record in the classic mile to the United States after a 29-year absence.

For if Poland hadn't followed the lead of Russia and pulled out of dual meets against the USA track and field forces in a political move against U.S. activities in Viet Nam, the 19-year-old Ryan wouldn't have run the mile Sunday.

He wouldn't have had the chance to blaze four laps in 3 minutes, 51.3 seconds, clipping a remarkable 2.3 off the record held by Frenchman Michel Jazy. Instead, he would have been running a 1,500-meter race, the metric mile, against the Poles.

Ryan, a University of Kansas freshman, now adds his mile mark to the world record of 1:44.9 in the half mile he has pending recognition. His 880 mark came at Tecre Haute, Ind., on June 10. The previous month in Los Angeles, the youngster from East Wichita bettered the American two-mile record at 8:25.2.

Not since Britain's Sydney Wooderson broke the record of another Kansas, Glenn Cunningham, with a 4:06.4 in 1937, has an American owned the mile record. Cunningham ran a 4:06.8 in 1934.

En route to the mile, Ryan also was clocked with the second fastest 1,500 meters of all time—3:36.1, an American record topped only by the 3:35.6 by Herb Elliott of Australia in the 1960 Olympics.

Standing 6-foot-2 and weighing 155, Ryan says, "I like any distance a half mile, 1,500 meters, mile or two miles."

He plans to compete in the half mile next weekend at Los Angeles where runners from Australia, New Zealand and Britain substitute for the Russians. Then he'll take a vacation from track until fall when he joins the Kansas cross-country varsity.

When Poland withdrew from the scheduled dual meet a week ago, the All American Invitational was substituted, keeping the same events as on the original schedule but substituting the mile for 1,500 meters and the mile relay for the 1,600-meter baton passing event.

"All of us in the race were determined to run our personal best," said the quietly modest Ryan, who already had done a 3:53.7, just one-tenth off Jazy's record.

"When you run a good race, you always feel you could have done better," he added, and then predicted someone would lower the record to 3:50 before the end of the year.

Richey Captures Clay Courts Title

By KEN HARTNETT

Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — When it was over Cliff Richey, 19, ignored the pain in his legs and tossed his racket high in the air.

The Texas teen-ager had won a major prize—the National Clay Courts men's singles—and he knew what it meant.

"This was a big tournament," said Richey, who could soon be pressing Dennis Ralston and Arthur Ashe for top recognition among U.S. amateur players.

It's the second biggest, next to Forest Hills, in the United States, he said.

Ralston, ranked No. 1, was eliminated in the quarter-finals. He said he plans to quit the amateur tour at the end of the current season. His defection would leave only Ashe, who did not enter the Clay Courts, ahead of the improving Richey.

The 5-foot-9 dynamo from Dallas defeated parttime player Frank Froehling, New York City, 13-11, 6-1, 6-3 in a grueling match that ended with Richey no longer able to maneuver on his muscle-cramped legs.

Richey's older sister, Nancy, won the women's singles for the fourth consecutive year. She defeated Stephanie De Fina, Hollywood, Fla., 6-2, 6-2.

Ralston, defending singles champion, salvaged something from the tournament. The Bakersfield, Calif., star teamed with Clark Graebner, Beechwood, Okla., to defeat Froehling and Charles Pasarell, San Francisco, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4.

Red Cross Told Of Consequences On Hanoi Trials

GENEVA (AP) — The United States told the International Red Cross Committee today there will be "disastrous consequences" if North Viet Nam carries out threats to put captive American airmen on trial.

Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, permanent U.S. representative to the United Nations, delivered the warning from the United States in a meeting with Roger Gallop, executive director of the neutral, all-Swiss committee.

Goldberg told reporters after the meeting: "I informed the Red Cross that in the view of the U.S. government there can be no doubt that the Geneva Conventions on the treatment of prisoners of war fully apply to the Viet Nam conflict."

North Viet Nam's position is that the conventions do not apply since there has been no declaration of war.

After today's meeting, Gallop shook hands with Goldberg. "There will be no statement from the Red Cross."

He then asked Goldberg to make his statement to the press outside the building. This was to avoid any Communist charges that the committee is in any way favoring the American side in the dispute over prisoners.

A committee official stressed to newsmen: "We are deeply concerned with all prisoners in Viet Nam," with emphasis on the word "all."

Goldberg said the Red Cross has agreed to a second meeting Wednesday.

Miss Universe Is Not Planning on Hometown Return

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The new Miss Universe, who will be offered the keys to countless cities around the world during her year's reign, said today she can never return to her hometown of Gothenburg, Sweden.

"The people there will all say how can she be Miss Universe," explained Margareta Arvidsson.

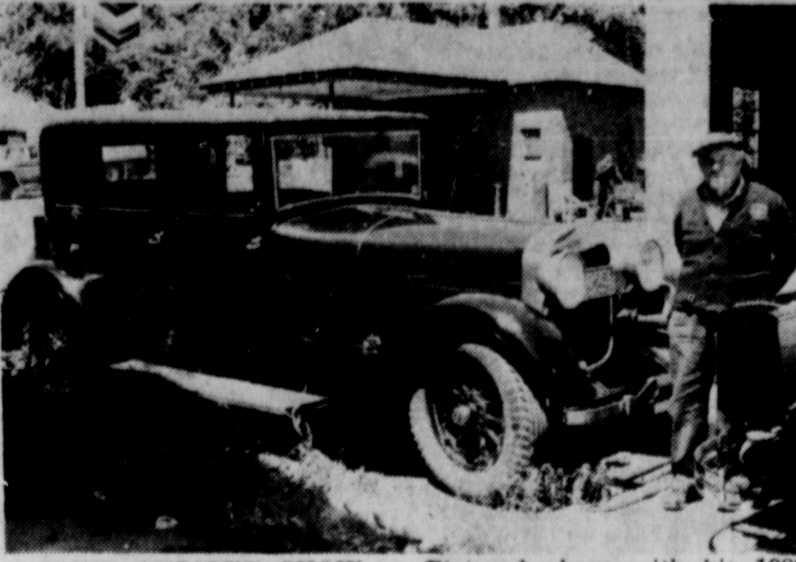

"I'll never go home to that town again so they can see me. It is a small town and they will all think I'm very stuck on myself," added the professional model who was also voted the most photogenic of the 58 contestants.

Miss Sweden, who'll be 19, Aug. 12, is already homesick for her parents, her four sisters, her country and her horse, Drabant.

"He's dark brown and just the sweetest horse in the world," she said.

The 35-24-34 Nordic beauty was crowned by Miss Universe of 1965, Apasra Hongsakula of Thailand, Saturday night on a nationally televised show. Miss Finland, Satu Ostrling of Tampere, was first runner-up.

Booklet Issued On N. Y. City's Income Taxes

NEW YORK (AP) — A 23-page booklet was being issued starting today to some 460,000 employers on how to handle the city's new income tax on residents and earnings tax on commuters.

The booklet contains instructions, withholding tax tables and charts explaining withholding methods.

Instructions to the employer on the filing of personal income and the earnings tax will be issued at the beginning of next year. Meanwhile, most taxpayers will not have anything to do — except pay. A few will have to file tax estimates on forms to be mailed to them Aug. 25 and returnable Sept. 15.

Because the taxes became effective July 1, half a year's taxes will be collected in the last four months of the year. The withholding rate will decline to normal after Jan. 1, 1967.

Roy M. Goodman, the city finance administrator, said Sunday "we have done our level best to keep the New York City resident income tax and non-resident earnings tax as simple as possible. We have conformed our city procedures to the state and federal wherever we could."

A call for assistance was sent out and the boat was towed to Port Ewen. William Cannon of Port Ewen summoned the sheriff's office from Hidden Harbor boat basin and an ambulance was dispatched.

Taken to Kingston Hospital were Robert Palamater, Miss Theresa Lagattuta of Ohioville Street, New Paltz, and Charles Van Leuven of Cain Drive, Poughkeepsie. The two were treated and released and Palamater was later taken to Vassar Hospital suffering from a back injury. A fourth person in the boat was reported uninjured.

One youth was injured and another escaped unhurt at 11 p. m. Saturday, when a car in which they were riding failed to negotiate a curve and overturned after hitting an embankment off Route 52 about four miles east of Walker Valley.

State Police ECI Investigator Michael Bonney of Ellenville said the car was operated by Gary Chartowick, 17, of Liverpool, when the vehicle skidded on loose gravel, veered off the highway and hit an embankment. The car overturned, coming to rest on its top.

A passenger, Stephen Crist, 15, of Pine Bush, was taken to Horton Memorial Hospital, Middletown. He suffered a cerebral concussion and face abrasions, troopers said.
